THE THIRD PARTY CONVENTION NOW ON AT CHICAGO

AMALGAMATION OF THE DIFFERENT GROUPS TO MAKE UP THE PARTY THOUGHT IN SIGHT

COMMITTEES NOT BEING READY TO REPORT THE CONVENTION BECAME AN EXPERIENCE MEETING

ED. L. KEEN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)
Chicago, July 12—Leaders of various liberal groups assembling here to create an effective opposition to the old political parties were jubilant today.

Despite alleged objections voiced by what might be termed the extreme left wing of both the committee of forty-eight and the labor party, the proposed merging and the policy of amalgamation has been decided upon. Only the mechanical details remain to be worked out.

This decision was reached late last night by the liaison committee of the two conventions. The fact that it was unanimous, and that the conferees—numbering twenty-two from the labor party and twenty from the committee of forty-eight—were not only "democratically chosen" by the delegates of each convention, but are representing all factions of the committees of various shades and liberal opinions indicating that it will be approved by the convention.

When conferees met last night there were three subjects for discussion:

First, the question of amalgamation or alliance. Second, the name of the new party if amalgamation should be decided upon. Third, the platform.

Certain members from both organizations favored the idea of a mere working alliance and argued with some insistence against the labor party or the committee of forty-eight losing their identity, but gradually the objections were overcome.

Sub-committees were appointed to work out plans for a machine for proposed amalgamation and to formulate a basis of a common platform, while to the general body of conferees was left the matter of recommending a suitable name for the new party.

The conferees adjourned this morning without having reached a decision on the name question. Labor party conferees who insisted the word "labor" should be retained in naming the new party title, finally withdrew for a caucus, and it was agreed by the forty-eighters to postpone action. The prevailing choice among the forty-eighters was "The United Party."

DON CHAMBERLAIN
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Hotel Morrison, Chicago, July 12—With amalgamation of the various liberal groups into one political party definitely in mind, the committee of forty-eight national convention was called to order by Permanent Chairman Hanley P. Christianson at 10 a. m. today.

Father M. D. Collins, of Jackson, Missouri, offered prayer. As none of the committees were ready to report the session was turned into an "experience meeting." The first speaker was O. M. Thomson of Minneapolis, national lecturer for the nonpartisan league.

Victor Berger strolled in and took a seat at the press table as a "friendly spectator" he said.

Various Groups Decide to Amalgamate

Chicago, July 12—Tremendous cheers from the delegates of the committee of forty-eight convention greeted a partial report from conference committee shortly before noon today to the effect that amalgamation of the various groups had been decided upon.

Arthur G. Hays, chairman of the committee who returned the report, recommended amalgamation of the liberal groups which would mean the whole of the coming general convention.

He announced a committee of five had been appointed to confer with the labor party, and said that the representatives of the nonpartisan league of South Dakota, the American constitutional party, and the single tax party had declared their willingness to join the amalgamation.

The convention unanimously adopted

FREDERICK A. WALLIS

Frederick A. Wallis, who has been appointed commissioner of immigration at Ellis Island, New York city, to succeed Frederic C. Howe, resigned. Mr. Wallis has been fourth deputy police commissioner of New York.

ed the report by a viva voce vote.

Another motion was adopted by the appointment of a committee of five to locate a convention hall which would be big enough to hold the delegates of the convention to meet in one general convention.

Chicago, July 12—Chairman Christenson of Salt Lake City was unanimously elected to act as chairman of the proposed joint convention.

It will be necessary for the labor party, which so far has been marking time, to act on conference reports before further steps can be taken.

A committee of five was appointed by the platform committee of the forty-eighters procedure committee mittee of five from the labor party on drafting a common platform.

Meantime the subcommittee of the forty-eighters procedure committee was at work upon a constitution for the proposed third party, which, it was said, would be based largely upon the Wisconsin constitution.

Representatives of the nonpartisan league informed the conference committee that they were with the new movement "first last and all the time".

They joined the committee of forty-eight in opposing inclusion of the word "labor" in the name of the third party. They proposed the name of "United Party" which met with enthusiastic response. It developed that the labor party's insistence upon the inclusion of their name was to refute Samuel Gompers' declaration that no labor party could be successfully organized.

Eamonn DelaVaro, "president of Ireland," addressed the convention. He was given an ovation lasting fully a minute. The convention recessed at 12:30 and resumed at 1:51 p. m., when more speakers were to be heard.

SINGLE TAXERS WOULD RETAIN PARTY IDENTITY

HAROLD JACOBS
(United Press Staff Correspondent)

Chicago, July 12—The conference committee of the committee of forty-eight plans today to receive in order representatives of the following groups:

Single Tax Party.
Nonpartisan league.
Constitutional party.
American War Veterans.

Just before the conference committee session Robert C. MacAuley, national chairman of the single taxers declared his organization would insist on retaining its identity.

"The only way in which we will join with the other groups is on a common presidential candidate," he said.

MacAuley repeated that Senator Robert M. LaFollette, the popular choice of the other groups, would not be acceptable. He said his organization would endorse either Henry Ford or Amos Pinchot.

Sentiment had practically crystallized today on the ticket to head the proposed liberal policy. The apparent choice of the representatives of the various groups was:

Senator Robert M. LaFollette for president.

Amos Pinchot for vice president.

From authoritative sources it was learned LaFollette had definitely decided to await some guarantee of the liberalism and permanency of the new movement before agreeing to accept the nomination if it is tendered.

STEPS BEING TAKEN PREVENT THREATENED COAL FAMINE

OPERATORS WILL CO-OPERATE WITH RAILROADS—SEEMS TO BE A QUESTION OF TRANSPORTATION

Washington, July 12—Leading bituminous coal operators ordered a committee to meet here today to consider means of cooperating with railroads to get the maximum of open top cars supplied to the mines.

Coal can be mined, operators explained, only as fast as they get cars so that the problem of meeting the threatened coal shortage is really one of transportation.

One of the steps that may be urged as a result of the meeting today is an extension of the interstate commerce commission's priority order giving all available cars to bituminous mines. This order expires early in July, but the commission has already been asked to extend it.

Organization of National Fuel Advisory Committee

Washington, July 12—Organization of a national advisory fuel committee to handle soft coal distribution during the shortage was proposed here today at a meeting of the mine operators from all parts of the country.

The committee would carry out measures of increasing production and distribution to be devised by the operators before they adjourn their meeting.

One of the functions of the proposed committee would be to take immediate steps to relieve the coal shortage of the northwest where shipments are five million tons behind.

Operators of the west plan to confer with representatives of railroads to advance suggestions for increasing the supply at the mines of open top cars.

Parts of the barrel were picked up down stream. It is believed it had been dashed to pieces on the rocks beyond the falling seat of the water.

Stephen was a barber of Bristol, England. He came here only recently with the barrel, said to have been designed by an English professor. It was equipped with electric lights and the interior was padded. A special oxygen apparatus was provided which was said to have a full supply for eight hours. HARDING CONFERS WITH CUMMINS ON RAILROAD PROBLEM

CONFERS WITH SENATOR CUMMINS AS TO THE ATTITUDE THE REPUBLICAN PARTY SHOULD TAKE

RAYMOND CLAPPER

Cummins, of Iowa, chairman of the senate interstate commerce committee, and co-author of the Esch-Cummins railroad act.

Organized labor will seek to defeat candidates for congress who supported the measure and will try to secure a congress which will repeal the act and pass one providing for governmental operation and greater liberties for organized employees. Harding voted for the Cummins bill.

Besides the labor angle and question of overhauling the national transportation system, they will figure on the question of financing improvement and development sought by railroad operators and business interests.

Concerning Aerial Flights.

Air Commodore Edward Maitland of R-34 fame, speaking at the Royal Society of Arts, said that while flying the Atlantic he retired about 9 a. m., and he was assumed to say he slept until nine the next day. He found that the air not only induced sleep, but sharpened the appetite. Ladies had often asked him, the commodore said, "In what should we dress when about to take an aerial flight?" He felt tempted to suggest crinolines, which would become very useful as parachutes should the necessity arise.—London Chronicle.

A Big Contract.

"I see where the people at Atlantic City are asking the authorities to make the high winds stop blowing the sand about at Chelsea." "Next thing the public will be demanding that somebody stop the hot air blowing in congress."

Scents Act as Tonics.

According to the latest medical dictum the man or woman who delights in perfumes is well-advised to indulge this taste, providing they don't use heavy odors. It seems that eau de Cologne, and any fresh flower scent, has a slightly stimulating effect upon people, and in the early spring the use of perfume helps one to throw off the feeling of lassitude that is so often a characteristic of the season. In the summer, too, or whenever one is tired, the rejuvenating effect of a bath pleasantly perfumed is marked.

A Newspaper Man Asks Information About Gasoline Prices

"WHAT are the reasons for the advance in gasoline prices?" was asked by the President of a large daily newspaper.

Continuing, the gentleman said: "I can conceive how the cost of a manufactured article might increase as much as 50 to 100 percent because of the increased cost of raw materials, labor, etc.; but it has always seemed to me that the price of a product taken from the ground at a comparatively low cost should not be affected to any marked degree."

This constitutes a fair question, and we are glad of an opportunity to answer it frankly.

Gasoline is refined from crude petroleum by a lengthy and expensive process, and is, in the truest sense, a manufactured article. Time, labor, and heavy investments enter into the manufacture of gasoline from the crude, and each of these necessarily affect the price.

The cost of crude is a dominant factor in fixing the price of gasoline.

The extraordinary demand for petroleum products, plus the abnormal increases in the cost of labor, machinery, and money necessary for drilling and equipping oil wells, have combined to force upwards the price of crude oil from $1.54 to $4.30 per barrel in four years, nearly 180 percent.

For the same period the selling price of gasoline has increased but 44 percent.

Since the Armistice was signed, the production of automobiles, tractors, trucks, and other power using machinery, has created a demand for gasoline far in excess of normal. Gasoline reserves have been reduced to an alarming extent, and the bidding for crude oil on the part of refiners generally, has forced prices upward.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) having practically no wells of its own is obliged to go into the open market and compete with other refiners for the crude oil it requires.

Because of its acknowledged superior efficiency in manufacturing, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) despite these conditions has been able to exert a marked deterrent pressure upon the upward sweep of the gasoline market.

QUARTERLY MEETING

Bethlehem Evangelical Church, Corner Main and Bluff, to do Much Improvement Work

The Bethlehem Evangelical church, corner Main and Bluff, will hold its quarterly meeting on Wednesday evening July 14 in the basement of the church. Much business of importance will come up for discussion, such as the purchase of a new heating plant, the rebuilding of a chimney destroyed in the last tornado and other extensive repairs made necessary from the same storm.

MUFF OF FLOWERS

Latest Accessory Is Used to Enhance Filmy Frock.

Winter Convenience, Together With Parasol, Return to Their Own in Milady's Favor.

In summer the parasol and in winter the muff have been, throughout the ages, excuses for the most languorous and enchanting gestures employed by madame en promenade, says Vogue. What inestimable damage has been wrought by lovely arms during the artful manipulation of a parasol upon a summer day, or when winter winds cause a shy retreat into the deep fur of a muff.

These weapons are replaced in the evening by flowers. There is an irresistible fascination in the sight of a lovely woman at the opera armed with a large bouquet of roses or lilies, placing it upon the rail of the box, raising it to her face, holding it to one side. All is done, of course, in rhythmic unconsciousness, for without doubt she is completely absorbed in the music.

During the war, and especially when it was fashionable to go about tanned to a deep burnt almond, the parasol was discarded; but this season marks its reappearance. No doubt the war is to be blamed for the disappearance of flowers as well. Now, however, the parasol has returned, and the muff and flowers come back together. Throughout the gracious days of summer we shall observe this muff, employed in a hundred delicious gestures, as fair women stroll along the edge of the sea or upon the sheltered terraces of country estates. It will prove an almy complement to delicate, pale frocks, and it will also become very useful as a hiding place for a lace handkerchief, a tiny bouquet of flowers or a gold tipped cigarette.

The muff is also seen at the play, giving the pretty contradiction of arms concealed and folded closely, while shoulders and back reveal an audacious décolletage. It is usually made of flowers, Parma violets or white narcissus, quite round and without ornament.

We may expect, however, to see more imagination displayed; the muff may become a great bouquet of roses, with clusters of them showering down to the hem of the frock; it may be a mass of tulle puffing out between encircling bands of golden laurel leaves, the luster of which is only mistily veiled. Perhaps it will have to be content to remain quietly upon a forearm like a large ornament, or it may take the place of a lace fan, fluttering just below the eyes, which sparkle with an added malice and charm above the transparent mask. A dashing Roman type may fashion hyacinths or roses into a tambourine, surrounded by a butterfly of painted gauze with painted antennae to wave gently, creating a little perfumed breeze.

But, after all, what a useless proceeding to make suggestions to any flower-loving coquette. One need only remark quite casually that a muff of flowers would be a diverting addition to a filmy frock, and immediately her little head is full of the most delightful ideas on the matter, and the golden days and silver nights of summer are more dangerous than ever.

The Atlantic Patrol.

After the wreck of the Titanic, 11 of the leading nations of Europe joined with the United States and Canada to provide a service for the observation and patrol of ice along the north Atlantic steamship lanes. These nations contribute in different proportions to the expense of this service, but the work is done by the United States coast guard cutters Seneca and Tampa who cruise back and forth during the warmer months when the icebergs come south and send out to all vessels wireless reports of the location and movements of the ice—Boys' Life.

AMUSEMENTS

"Uncle Tom's Cabin"

There are many lauded enterprises that have become great from small beginnings. Two of the greatest successes of modern times that are due to push and energy and honest dealings are to be found in the two mammoth enterprises that have catered to the public demand for instructive amusements. From the days of small things they have mounted upwards until now these great concerns stand at the top without competitors. Everyone knows of what we speak without mentioning the names, for Terry's Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. is now a household word. The teachers in the public schools, the preachers from the pulpit, the lecturer from the platform, father and mother each and all encourage the attendance to see the great National drama in its entirety as presented by the Terry company. Nothing is more disappointing however, than to be faked and see this much loved play cut up and mangled by those hurdy, gurdy, fly by night companies that never have nor never can give satisfaction in giving a parody upon this wonderful story. The name Terry's Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. is always a full guarantee that when they present the play it will be a true representation of the author's story. Inquirers have been sent from other shows to pick up pointers and try to profit by gaining the secret of their wonderful success. Imitators have sprung up like Jonah's gourd to wither in a night like a school of minnows following in the wake of a whale. There is no secret in their success, it is simply dealing fair and honest with the public. Giving them a true representation of Harriet Ward Beecher Stowe's wonderful story of slavery before the Civil War. They carry the best band and orchestra money can procure; good, clean, skillful actors, the real plantation darkies and Cuban blood hounds. No make shifts, but everything in order and of the best. Terry's Uncle Tom's Cabin Co. is worthy of the success it has gained and we would be glad to have every man, woman and child see this story presented by this company, for we believe the story when written, was what led up to one of the great events of our Nation's history. At Brainerd Friday, July 16.

Don't Buy Private Brand Roofing

When you buy an unknown private brand of roofing you give the dealer, if he is unscrupulous, a chance to double-cross you.

In the first place, how do you know what quality of roofing you are buying? He may say that it is first-grade, because even an expert cannot tell the grade by just looking at it. Our third-grade roofing looks as good as any.

The chances are that you will get a medium or poor grade of roofing and pay a first-grade price for it. At least, an unscrupulous dealer with an unknown private brand of roofing can work that on you if he wants to.

Don't Pay a Long Profit

In the second place, how much profit is the dealer taking on your transaction? There is nothing to stop his taking a good, long one if you'll buy. That's why some dealers would rather sell private brands than Certain-teed.

Any responsible dealer can sell Certain-teed if he plays the game squarely. He gets a fair profit, but he cannot stretch it because so many dealers handle it and everybody knows the price.

Of course, you know what to expect from Certain-teed. It is highest quality, guaranteed for 5, 10 or 15 years, according to weight, and completely shelters your property. That's a real buy.

Any reliable dealer can get Certain-teed for you quickly from a nearby Certain-teed warehouse or jobber. He gets it when he wants it and he gets what he wants. He can afford to sell you at a fair price.

THE SIX-HOUR DAY

It seems incredible that the Federation of Labor, along with the enlightened attitude it has taken on Bolshevism, a separate labor party, and various other issues, should lend its support to the "six-hour day."

Up to this time the Federation's efforts to shorten the working day have been, on the whole, rational and admirable. Little by little it has forced down the cruelly long working period down to the present eight hours a day which has the sanction of economic reformers, efficiency experts and society in general. It has long been argued, and seems to have been demonstrated, that in most occupations a workman can do as much effective work in eight hours as he formerly did in 10 or 12 hours if he wants to. With this shortening of hours laboring classes have gained in leisure, health and opportunity, and the other classes have not suffered as long as the workmen have worked conscientiously.

But any good principle, carried too far, becomes bad. It does not follow that if a man can do as much work in eight hours as in 10, he can do as much in six hours as in eight. All experience shows that, save in exceptional cases of work involving intense strain, he cannot do it. He has no right to demand such shortening of his working time, as long as other classes of citizens are working more than six hours a day, and as long as the social organization in general needs more goods than can possibly be produced in a six-hour day.

There may come a time when society as a whole can produce all it needs by toiling six hours a day. That time seems yet far distant. It certainly will not come until the waste of this great war has been made up and further progress has been made in labor-saving methods. At the present stage of affairs, a general six-hour day would mean an indefinite continuation of insufficient production, and might plunge the world into hopeless and suicidal poverty.

MEMORIAL FLAG POLES

A monument erected in Washington Square, New York, in honor of the soldiers and sailors of that neighborhood who were killed in the war, is described as "neither costly nor imposing—only a flag-pole with a marble base, after the manner of the liberty poles which is a simpler era of the republic were the common type of war memorial."

Nevertheless it is praised as an appropriate and really artistic memorial, and doubtless deserves the praise. Its comparative inexpensiveness is to its advantage, because it encourages simplicity of design. When a city or an organization has much money to spend for a monument, it is likely to produce something unnecessarily big and ornate. In monuments especially, simplicity is recognized by art experts as the chief thing to aim at. The finest monument in America is, by common agreement, the Washington Monument in the national capital, which is a plain marble obelisk. A flag pole with a smooth marble base is almost as simple and durable, and has an additional fitness in the use to which it is put; the flag under which those men fought and died becomes a part of their monument.

This matter deserves the consideration of cities, towns and villages everywhere that are planning memorials for their war dead. Is not something of this sort better than elaborate sculpture, matted up with symbolic figures which, even though they may be well done, few people understand or enjoy?

DROP TOO MUCH

The barber who went over Niagara Falls in a barrel and got shattered to pieces in the 158 feet fall took a drop too much.

California is urging everybody to "eat a raisin a day." A good many people would rather drink it.

Success Through Optimism.

At one time while building the Panama canal there were eight thousand men engaged in the Culebra cut alone. Every night as much soil slid into the cut as could be taken out during the day. But there was not a sign of discouragement—the men enjoyed the fight. Colonel Goethals walked through the cut one morning just after an extensive slide. The foreman had been on the job since midnight.

"Well, how is everything this morning, Mr. Hogan?" asked Goethals.

"Fine, Colonel, fine. It barred that steam shovel over there and tipped over two batteries of drills and covered all the tracks through the cut but one, but everything's fine, sir. We're diggin'."—H. H. Moore in The Youth of a Nation.

Assyrian "Ambassadress."

The Lady Surma d'Mar Shimun has arrived in London as the official ambassador from the Assyrians in the Kurdistan mountains, says the Argonaut.

Very handsome, not unlike the queen of Montenegro in profile, very bright, lively and animated, Lady Surma d'Mar Shimun is only a little more than 30 years of age. Of fine physique, she is also a highly cultured woman, so cultured that the archbishop of Canterbury closed a recent interview with the "ambassador" with the remark: "It is extraordinary to find so much civilization where one could naturally have expected barbarism."

Brainerd Scores a Shut Out Sunday
Afternoon Over 49th Infantry
Team From Fort Snelling

MORSE PITCHES A FINE GAME

Given Clockwork Support by his Team
Mates. Brainerd Bats Schwab
Hard in the 6th Inning

Brainerd shut out the 49th Infantry Team from Fort Snelling 4 to 0 Sunday afternoon at the Koering grounds. A good, snappy game was played, Brainerd pulling off two double plays.

Benda distinguished himself on third. He had two putouts, six assists without a bobble, figured in a double play and at bat got a two-bagger and a single in four times up, pushed in 2 runs and brought in one himself. Benda throws a nice peg to first.

Morse pitched a splendid game, and was given excellent support. At bat he got two hits in four times up, scored a run and pushed in another. His run made in the sixth occurred when he and Cook tried a double steal. Cook was caught between first and second, the soldiers devoting their attention to Cook, while Morse slid for home.

How Scores Were Made
Brainerd, as usual, plumped down hard on the pitcher in the first inning. Peterson walked, Bemis got to first on a fielder's choice and scored on Benda's single. Benda later made third on an error of center fielder. Morse fanned and Cook went out second to first. One hit, one run.

In the sixth Bemis again started the rally. He singled, and scored on Benda's two-bagger. Morse singled and drove in Benda. Cook took a lead off first and Morse off third and the 49th Infantry went after Cook while Morse slid for home. Larson flew to left field and Shello went out pitcher to first. Four hits, three runs.

Double Plays
Brainerd made its double plays in the second and eighth innings. In the second Wicker, who had reached first on a wild pitch, was put out Peterson to Larson, and Boyke, the batter, was nailed Larson to Cook.

In the eighth Schwab had walked and stolen a base and was caught Morse to Benda, who relayed the ball to Larson, catching Burd.

The game was the first this season in which four home men were played, being the highest number of home men ever put on the batting list.

Walter F. Kunitz inspired a good game. He was given an ovation by the fans when he went to his station.

The score by innings:

FEDERAL COURT OPENS SOON

Ford and Trailer Contained Five Stills and Coils and Three Copper Kettles, Etc.

In a Ford trailer this morning stationed near the city hall reposed the exhibits of numerous moonshine raids to be used as evidence in the federal court soon to convene in Duluth.

Transferred from city hall lock-up to the trailer, the exhibits included five stills, numerous coils, three copper kettles and other stuff taken by Special Officer E. G. Boyd and assistants, George Musolf and Oscar Baker.

The three officers traveled in a Ford with trailer, and left Brainerd on the Black Diamond Trail for Duluth. Officer Musolf figured first on taking a detour via Lawler, but was informed that road was in bad condition. At Altin inquiries will be made as the best way to motor to Duluth.

ROAD CONDITIONS

G. Roy Hill, Secretary of Automobile Club of Minneapolis, Issues a Bulletin

General rains throughout the state played havoc with many of the ordinary dirt roads last week and in some instances the good gravel roads have been affected. G. Roy Hill, secretary of the Automobile club of Minneapolis, gave out a general bulletin on road conditions in Minnesota.

From Minneapolis to St. Cloud, tourists are using the west side of the river on account of construction work, and bad roads on the east side. From St. Cloud to Sauk Center to Alexandria to Fergus Falls the recent rains have made the roads practically impassable in several stretches.

"The Jefferson highway, north, is in fairly good condition with the exception of the road between Monticello and St. Cloud. Stay on the west side of the river for about nine miles beyond St. Cloud, and then cross the river, toward Rice. About a block beyond the river turn to the left through a field until you strike Jefferson highway, then to Royalton, Little Falls, Staples, Wadena, etc. This road should be in fairly good condition by Sunday. Jefferson highway, south, should be in shape by Sunday if there is no more rain. There are a few detours along this road, but they are well marked.

"The scenic highway from Elk River north to Zimmerman, Princeton, etc., is in good condition except between Milaca and Onamia. This will improve as the weather dries it out. Brainerd, north to Walker, fair, except between Jenkins and Pine River. In real wet weather use the road west to the Pillager road, instead of going north to Pine River, which has several low spots in it.

STREET WORK

Macdonald Being Stripped from Oak Street Preparatory to Repaving with Cement

Large graders and loaders are at work on Brainerd streets getting them in shape for repaving with cement. On Oak street a grader hauled by ten horses is cutting up the macadamized street and loading dump wagons.

The latter are discharging their loads on side streets which need filling and the result will be a great improvement over the sand roads there which formerly held away.

Saturday night at 8:30 o'clock the lucky number will be drawn at the Woodhead Motor Co. on Front street. Only one thousand chances remain out of seven thousand and if you want a chance on the Ford you had better hurry. Absolutely only seven thousand chances will be sold. Maybe the Ford will cost you one cent, not over fifty. Don't forget the date and watch the lucky number. Saturday night it is your Mr. Lucky Number.

COMMISSION NEEDS ENGINEERS

Transportation Rates Depend on Valuation, Commission Trying to Expedite Work

Washington, D. C., July 12.—The United States Civil Service Commission states that the Interstate Commerce Commission is making every effort to expedite the valuation of common carriers.

The importance of hurrying this work is evident, in view of the law which provided for the return of transportation properties to private control and which specifies that the Interstate Commerce Commission shall adjust rates so as to insure a fair return upon the aggregate value of the railway property of carriers, the basis being the valuation made by the Commission.

It is stated that the office technical force of the Commission is now engaged in the computation and assembly of the large amount of data furnished by the field engineers. For this office work the Commission needs architects and engineers (civil, mechanical, electrical, structural, signal, telegraph and telephone). Senior architects and engineers are offered entrance salaries from $2,100 to $2,700 a year; junior architects, $1,320 to $1,920; junior architects, $1,320 to $1,920. Rodmen and chainmen at $720 to $1,080 will also be appointed in the field and office forces. Employees are given a daily allowance for subsistence, as well as transportation expenses, when away on official business, and are also allowed the increase of $20 a month granted by congress. The prospect for promotion are said to be good.

The Civil Service Commission will receive applications for these positions until further notice.

Wet Weather Halts Grasshopper Menace

The menace of a "hopper" plague in Western Minnesota has been greatly lessened, though not necessarily removed, by frequent and heavy rains. This is the finding of A. G. Ruggles of University Farm, state entomologist, who has been making investigations in Minnesota, North Dakota, Manitoba and Saskatchewan. Wet weather, says Mr. Ruggles, develops fungus diseases which kill myriads of the insects. Further, wet weather, he says, serves to keep the insects close to the ground, where they cannot feed and thrive as usual. Again, the rain vegetation along road sides and in untilled fields where most of the "hoppers" breed, is furnishing plenty of food for the young insects, and a strong movement toward cultivated fields is not seen.

PARK ORCHESTRA

Plays for Dance at Lam Park Tonight
An Ideal Night for a Dance at the Park

The Park orchestra plays for a dance at Lam park this evening. Taking a look at the thermometer while wiping one's brow, the visitor can truthfully say that this should be an ideal night for a dance at Brainerd's Coney Isle. The pavilion is one of the biggest and best in the state. For rhythmic syncopation with a jazz accompaniment the Park orchestra is unexcelled.

MAIL SACK STOLEN AT PILLAGER DEPOT

Pouch Containing About 100 Letters Taken Last Thursday Night—Tickets Also Stolen

On Thursday night the Northern Pacific depot at Pillager was broken into, the money till robbed of a small amount of cash and two tickets were taken. The freight house was also broken into and a sack full of nothing was taken so far as known. A letter pouch was taken from the depot where it is locked up for the night train. The robbery of the mail pouch was discovered on receipt of a notice from the mail clerk that the pouch had been dispatched Thursday night. Investigations were then made by Postmaster Bennett and Agent Henry, who discovered the coop in which the mail is kept had been pried open and nailed up again. About 100 letters were in the pouch.

Two young men of the village were suspected but proved an alibi. Two other men whose identity is not known, were seen at the depot as the 1:20 train pulled in. Only one ticket was purchased on the train, so it is possible that the other one of the two jumped on the blind baggage of the rear of the train.

Government and railroad inspectors are working on the case and looking up all clues, so it is possible that the guilty parties will be apprehended.—Pillager Herald.

BASEBALL BUNTS

Joe Bush pitched Boston to a 2 to 1 victory over St. Louis, the game being marked by the fielding of Geelen, Scott and McNally.

The Clydes Saturday defeated Little Falls at Duluth 1 to 0.

In Sunday's game the Clyde Iron Works defeated Little Falls 6 to 2. Carl Cashion pitched for the iron workers who were never in danger. Posten pitched for Little Falls. While Cashion was holding Little Falls "at its mercy", says the Duluth News-Tribune, "the Clydes just hit everything that Herb Posten threw at them. Sampson scored a home run by hitting the ball over the left field fence in the sixth inning." Attendance was 1000.

Crosby defeated Coleraine Sunday 7 to 1 at Coleraine. Crosby batted Wouck hard while Lane held Coleraine to three hits. Jimmy Lappia caught for Crosby.

Pretor defeated the Duluth Gophers 7 to 4.

Virginia won 5 to 4 from Hibbing. Chisholm plays two games with International Falls, at the latter town, twilight ones, Tuesday and Wednesday.

Women's Convention

St. Paul, July 12.—What is it lure woman into business—away from social life and the cares of home making?

Mary Austin, woman writer, will try to answer that question for the national federation of Business and Professional women at their annual conventions here July 27-30. Her address is one of many features on the convention program.

Miss Austin has made a study of women in business and has definite ideas as to women in business and the home, her friends here say.

Soldier Day at Fair

Fargo, N. D., July 12.—American Legion cards were tickets of admission at the North Dakota state fair today. This was "Soldiers' Day." Tomorrow will be Minnesota and North Dakota day; Wednesday, old settlers and civil war veterans' day; Thursday Fargo and Moorhead day; Friday livestock and Children's club day and Saturday Grand Forks day.

In a few days we shall announce our $10,000.00 sale. It will be the greatest price reduction seen since the war prices. Watch the papers—you'll see the wisdom of attending this sale. Look for the tickets like the one shown above. Over 2,000 red triangle tickets will be found announcing the bargains.

A CENTURY OF ANTHRACITE

First Ton of Hard Coal Reached the City of Philadelphia Just One Hundred Years Ago.

An even hundred years have elapsed since one William Wurts, a Philadelphia merchant, drove his team of mules with the first ton of anthracite through the spring freshets and bog land to the banks of the Delaware river and floated the new fuel down the river to Philadelphia on a pine log raft.

But he experienced no little difficulty in that first anthracite year of 1820 in overcoming the popular objection that the coal was "extremely slow of lighting." Pine log rafts floated only 305 tons of anthracite that year. But it fetched a price of $12 a ton and could be delivered freight-on-raft Philadelphia at $3—a fact that was freely advertised to attract additional capital, for, of course, there was no profiteering in those days.

Spring freshets and bog land and slow inflammability no longer worry operators. Silk shirts for miners are a bigger nuisance. But production in a hundred years has jumped to 80,000,000 tons, and could this year surpass the 100 million-ton mark, which was almost reached in 1917.

Reading, Wilkesbarre, Lehigh, Mauch Chunk—these names are spoken one thousand times hourly in the industrial world today, simply because there lay up in the hills of Pennsylvania a hard, black substance, one ton of which sly old William Wurts steered on a raft down the Delaware to Philadelphia, just one hundred years ago.—Wall Street Journal.

ASTRONOMY STILL AT FAULT

Men of Science Forced to Admit Exact Results From Their Calculations Are Not Possible.

The celebrated observatory at Greenwich, the place from which we reckon longitude, was founded by Charles II in 1675, mainly for the purpose of investigating the movements of the moon in the interests of navigation. Although in the intervening two and a half centuries astronomers have worked at the problem, the moon has not yet become entirely amenable to their mathematical. In a recent report of the observatory at Greenwich attention is invited to the increasing deviation between the calculated position of the moon in the sky and its real position shown by the Greenwich observations. The deviation has lately been growing in a serious manner. The error last year was more than twelve times as large as the error twenty years ago, and the average annual increase during the two decades has amounted to half a second of arc in longitude. The reason that astronomers have failed in getting exact results from calculations based on the dynamical laws of gravitation is possibly the existence of some attractive force that they have not yet discovered, although the result may also be affected by the true shape of the earth, which still awaits accurate determination.

Deadly Weapon of Warfare

An invention by a French wireless engineer, M. Dumoyer, will completely change the character of naval warfare, if its claims are fulfilled, says the London Mail. It consists of what he calls an "electric safety lock." The mechanism to direct the course of a torpedo and secure its explosion against an enemy warship can be worked not only by wireless waves of the right length, but also by a proper sequence of Morse signals. TYPICAL OF EAST

City of Adana Redolent of Filth and Smells.

Conditions and Sights Such as Would Make an Occidental Samaritan Faint, Though Inhabitants Placidity Endure Them.

We stopped for two days at Adana, the scene of the great massacres of 1909, when more than twenty thousand Armenians were murdered, and where again in 1915 many thousands were deported and many slain. Adana is 100 feet above the sea and we had been at 7,000 feet a few hours earlier, so that the heat appeared to be torrid, writes Maj. Gen. James G. Harbord in the World's Work.

Adana is the principal city of Cilicia, a vast alluvial plain, one of the most fertile regions in the world. Its heat in the dry season is terrific. The soil is as fine and impalpable as flour and a dog trotting down the street raises enough dust to hide a motorcar. What a motorcar does to a pedestrian can be guessed.

Near the station a group of peasants were making roof tiles in the same manner in which they were made thousands of years ago. The houses have flat roofs, and people sleep on them at night as they did in Biblical times. The market and bazaar street of Adana is typical of life in the East. Every sight, sound and smell seems represented there. The streets are crooked and vary from fifteen to thirty feet in width. The shops on either side open broadly to the street, and the wares are displayed under conditions that would make an occidental sanitarian faint.

Down the street comes a dilapidated victrola of the early '90s with a small team whipped by a wild-looking Turk. Pedestrians scurry out of the way and dodge in front of a "tin lizzie" driven by a missionary. British sikhs stalk down street stiffly saluting the foreign officers. An Armenian of the French oriental legion strolls along with a superior air.

A small boy peddling lemonade made of limes and carried on his back in a very dirty jar with a long spout curving over his shoulder tries to sell the Americans a drink. His glasses are carried in a small rack worn around his waist, and are not cleaned between drinks, not much at any time. His transactions are not usually for cash. At an open shop he delivers a drink, takes a piece of chalk from behind his ear, steps inside and on the wall beside eight other tallies makes a mark indicating a sale, and passes on. When he is out of sight the Armenian to whom he sold the drink, with a melancholy smile at the observing American, steps to the wall, moistens thumb at his lips, and carefully erases the last tally mark.

Veiled women pick over fruit and vegetables and haggle over prices with the vendors. Here and there a small child lies on the stone sidewalk asleep, face downward in the sun and flies and filth.

The bazaar street ends on the river bank, and one sees the source of the city water supply. The donkeys stand in the stream while the water peddler fills his jars by dipping among the water buffalo—the carabao of Philippine days—swimmers ducks and geese. The river, a stream 300 yards wide, has a stone bridge, of which tradition says that it was repaired by Emperor Justinian more than a thousand years ago.

Truth and Conscience.

An unsigned letter, with 40 cents inclosed, came to the R. W. Furnas Ice Cream company Friday. It read:

"A little contribution to the 'conscience fund.'"

"During the Slippery Gulch celebration in Indianapolis some months ago I had occasion to purchase—and consume—some refreshments to the extent of 40 cents from the man in charge of your concession."

"Neither of us having the proper change we 'let it go' for the moment. I forgot it."

"Truth being the slogan in this fair city this week, I am glad I'm here to reimburse you."

"Please put the inclosed in the proper place."—Indianapolis News.

To Call the Roll Over Again.

Two negro soldiers had a slight disagreement the other night, and as they waxed weary of each other's company I heard:

"Aw, why don't y' all stop peskerin' me, man? I bet y'all's gonna have somebody patten' yuh in de face wit' a spade fo' mo'nin' if yuh don't git 'way from me, dat's whut!"

His indignant companion replied: "Trash, lissen t' me; It's 'leben o'clock now. An' if ya'll don't make tracks 'way from dis nigger, de debil's gonna have ter call roll call all over 'gain tonight, just 'count ob one low-down no-count!"—Baltimore Sun.

Rare Chance for Bold Bandits.

As quietly as possible a dozen men in two small motor cars moved about $80,000,000 in cash and securities on a recent Sunday in New York from the Citizens National bank, 320 Broadway, to the Chemical National bank, 270 Broadway. In addition, they transferred almost $1,000,000 worth of gold and silver plate and jewelry which was tucked into safe deposit boxes. Six and three-quarter millions of the moved treasure was in actual cash. Only eight policemen—three in uniform and five in mufti—kept watch over the transfer.
